Barrister, practising in commercial law from Essex Court Chambers, London, England

Michael Collins was called to the Bar of England and Wales in 1971. Appointed Queen's Counsel in 1988, he practised commercial law from Essex Court Chambers in London, England, for 30 years, until moving to the United States of America in 2002. He then spent 4 years as a Special Legal Consultant with the international arbitration practice of Fulbright & Jaworski LLP, based in Washington DC. Since 2006 he has been associated with Crandall, Hanscom & Collins PA, in Rockland, Maine, from where he continues to practise as an international arbitrator and mediator primarily based in Washington, DC, and at his Chambers in London, England.

Mr. Collins' principal areas of specialisation at the English Bar included international and domestic arbitration, insurance (marine & non-marine) and reinsurance, shipping (including shipbuilding disputes, ship sale and purchase, bill of lading and charterparty disputes, cargo claims, and limitation actions), oil & gas, banking, construction, information technology, aviation and a wide variety of other contractual and tortious disputes of a technical or commercial nature. In addition to his frequent appearances in the English trial and appellate courts, he has appeared as an advocate in the courts of Hong Kong, Singapore and Bermuda. He served as a Recorder of the Crown Court between 1994 – 2001.

Mr. Collins has 40 years' experience of acting as a counsel in international and domestic arbitrations. Recent cases in which he has acted as counsel include a major shipping arbitration concerning the long-term supply, shipment and delivery of LNG into the United States and the producibility and valuation of unextracted gas reserves; two separate LCIA arbitrations concerning (i) operation of the credit card business; and (ii) the sale and distribution of digital satellite television services to the Middle East; and a dispute concerning the transportation of crude oil through a common pipeline, and the operation of a quality bank related to such transportation.

Mr. Collins has acted as chair or as a tribunal member in numerous ICC, LCIA, LMAA, SIAC, AAA (ICDR), ARIAS, UNCITRAL, and other institutional and ad hoc arbitrations over the past 25 years, regularly sitting in jurisdictions such as London, Singapore, Hong Kong, Bermuda, Switzerland, Canada and the United States. He is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators; a Fellow of the Singapore Institute of Arbitrators; a member of the Advisory Board of the Institute for Transnational Arbitration and a member of the American Arbitration Association ICDR International Arbitration Panel. He is also a CEDR-accredited mediator and has acted as a mediator in a variety of insurance, reinsurance and technical disputes in London, Sydney, Bermuda, New York and Washington D.C.

Mr. Collins' recent arbitration appointments have included the following:

- Sole arbitrator in an ICC arbitration concerning a dispute between the parties to a limited partnership agreement (Bermuda law; Tokyo seat)

- Chairman of the panel in an ICC arbitration concerning interruptions in the supply of natural gas under long term supply agreements (New York law + seat)
